3. Changes to the Terms of Use. We may revise and update these Terms of Use from time to time in our sole discretion. All changes are effective immediately when we post them. Your continued use of the Website following the posting of revised Terms of Use means that you accept and agree to the changes. You are expected to check this page periodically so that you are aware of any changes, as they are binding on you.

4. Communication Through Website. The use of this website, or use of any contact form for communication with the firm, or any individual member of the firm, does not establish an attorney-client relationship. Confidential or time-sensitive information should not be sent through any contact form on this website. Transmitting information to the Law Offices of Carol Bertsch, PC by e-mail, telephone, voicemail messages, texts, faxes, and other forms of communication, does not establish an attorney-client relationship.

By submitting a contact form on this website, you acknowledge the Law Offices of Carol Bertsch, PC has no obligation to maintain the confidentiality of any information you submit to us unless we already represent you or we agree to represent you through an engagement letter.

If you are not an already recognized, retained client of the Law Offices of Carol Bertsch, PC, do not include in your online correspondence any confidential information that you do not wish people outside of our law firm to see. Instead, please call our office directly. All conversations with members of our firm, including paralegals and administrators, are confidential regardless of whether or not you hire our firm.

5. Additional Communication. Transmitting information to the Law Offices of Carol Bertsch, PC by email, phone calls, voicemail messages, texts, and other forms of communication does not establish an attorney-client relationship.

Please note that in response to your unsolicited call/email/letter we cannot and do not represent you relating to this or any other matter. Nothing in your correspondence to us or in this message creates any form of attorney-client relationship or any duties or obligations on our part.

Information in your unsolicited call will not be considered confidential.

We will delete the call/email/text after reading/listening to it.

We advise that you consult with an attorney regarding any claims or legal concerns that you may have including any deadlines that may limit your rights.

You might contact your local bar association for assistance in locating an attorney as we cannot and do not represent you solely through your act of communication.

Please do not forward any additional (advertising, marketing, etc.) unsolicited communications to our firm either by phone, text, fax, or email.

6. Advertising. This website is solely used for advertising purposes and should not be construed as legal advice.
